NOTES ON HONORS CAPSTONE PROPOSAL CONTENT

Because Honors Capstones are viewed as culminating academic experiences, this experience should involve and engage students not only in their discipline but also across disciplines and within and across their academic and physical communities to as great of an extent possible. Such experiences should include, but are not limited to more in-depth or interdisciplinary written work, supplemental readings, research or lab work (such as ) presentation of findings (such as at regional/national conferences, before a faculty panel, presenting materials in class), out-of-class work (such as volunteering with community agencies, research, job shadowing, observations, etc)

Your PROPOSAL should provide a thorough and specific documentation of the planned academic effort. This will most likely require 2 or more pages of text or detailed outline. Typed proposals must be attached to the Proposal Form and returned to the Honors Office for approval. Proposals must include the following:

I. Summary of key objective(s) of effort. How long will this project last? How much time will you spend on the project? What will be the final result(s) of your project? What will you learn that you didn’t know before? Who will this project affect?

II. Discussion of the student’s academic motivation. How does this fit in with your academic goals and/or your previous coursework or experiences? What will you benefit from participation in this effort?

III. Discussion of Relevant Theory. How will you relate this work to existing theories or frameworks related to this topic? Will you draw on fundamental knowledge learned in past courses? Will you seek new theoretical understanding through references or other sources of information?

IV. Outline of work plan. Discussion of methodologies. Explain how you plan to do the work. Will you run experiments? Perform research in the library or elsewhere? Interview people? Give sufficient details (typically 1-2 paragraphs). Describe the role of the instructor. How often will you meet and for how long? What expertise does the instructor bring to this effort? Will s/he tutor you? Will they link you with outside experts?

Provide a list of references. This does not need to be complete, but should reflect the types of sources of information you will draw on for the project. This may include books, films, journal articles, people, or other sources of knowledge.

V. Description of the final project. Include scope of product, length, and format.

VI. Description of the evaluation method to be used by the supervising instructor.

FINAL REFLECTION

In addition, before the end of the term, the student must submit a 2-3 page Honors Capstone Reflection to the Honors Program (honors@nau.edu) that incorporates the following:

- What HON classes have you taken? Why did you choose these? What –H classes have you completed (consider not just dedicated –H classes, but also cross-listed –H classes as well as –H classes arranged through Honors Contracts)? Why did you complete those particular classes? Have you completed Independently arranged HON credit such as Independent Study, Undergraduate Research, an Honors thesis, or an internship? Did you study abroad? How did these Honors classes shape your NAU education?

- Did you participate in any Honors leadership experiences such as GURUS, Writing Tutors, Ambassadors, or HON 100 Facilitators? How did these Honors leadership experiences shape your NAU education?

- Consider the Honors Pathways you attended; take a moment to revisit the Pathways essays you submitted, and the events you attended. How were they similar? What did you take away from them? How do those events complement or contradict your education?

- What Honors events (outside of completed Pathways) did you attend, such as Honors Retreat, Welcome Picnic, Honors Pathways you didn’t submit an essay for, etc.? How did those events shape your experience in Honors? At NAU?

- Discuss how Honors and any of the above may have prepared you for a career, further education, life in a global society, or life as an active citizen (on local, state and national levels)?

This reflection should have some structure to it similar to an academic paper you would write for a class, but this really is about giving you an opportunity to think back on your time at NAU and in Honors and in Flagstaff. This reflection should be no less than 2 pages long and approximately 3 pages total. Submit to honors@nau.edu with “Honors Capstone Reflection” in the subject line.

Effort:

Effort should be commensurate with the Arizona Board of Regents rule of 3 hours of effort per week over 15 weeks (45 hours) per 1 unit. Thus, for a 3 unit course, 135 hours of academic work is expected. Independently arranged coursework general effort level: the final report length should be approximately 10-15 pages per unit. This also must be submitted prior to grades being reported by your instructor.

Final Grade:

Prior to receiving a final grade, a copy of the complete report/product must be provided to the Honors Program by the student. In the absence of this complete report/product, a grade of “I” will be reported.
