Teach-In

The POWER OF NO

HOW OUR DISCIPLINES INSPIRE RESISTANCE

Friday, April 21, 3-5pm
International Pavilion
(S. Knoles Dr. Between W. University & E. McConnell)
Program

   Julie Piering, Philosophy

   Cecilia Marek, Institute for Human Development

3. “Ethnic Studies: Existing/Resisting”
   T. Mark Montoya, Ethnic Studies

   Leilah Danielson, History

5. “Whose No Matters?”
   Nishant Upadhyay, Women and Gender Studies

6. “Lessons from Buddhism, Judaism, and Sociology: Question Authority!”
   Janine Schipper, Sociology and Social Work

7. “The power of 'know/ledge’”
   Celia Barotz, Flagstaff City Council
Further Reading

Faculty from CCS, Philosophy, History, WGS, SOC & Ethnic Studies describe the way knowledge from their disciplines helps identify and respond to injustice.

Co-organizers:

Gioia Woods, Comparative Cultural Studies and Heather Martel, History

Sponsored by:

Department of History, Comparative Cultural Studies, and Philosophy in the Public Interest