NOTES:

Take Honors Classes

Go to nau.edu/honors. Select the Course Offerings link then the term. To find Honors classes in the LOUIE schedule of classes:

- Select HON as your prefix. This will give you a list of all the available Honors Program class offerings.
- Enter “H” in the Course Number field and then change “is exactly” to “contains.” This gives you all departmentally offered Honors classes, or courses listed as –H.

Honors students are encouraged to participate in an international study abroad or exchange. The Center for International Education coordinates opportunities to study in other countries while earning direct NAU credit. With advance approval, an Honors College student may apply credit earned while studying abroad to fulfill Honors curriculum requirements. The value and quantity of coursework applied to Honors requirements is determined on an individual basis. For specific information, refer to the Honors website nau.edu/honors or an Honors advisor prior to the term in which you plan to study abroad.

ARRANGE INDEPENDENT COURSEWORK

Because many Honors students have achieved sufficient academic maturity to study subjects independently, you have the opportunity to fulfill Honors requirements by completing independently arranged coursework. There currently are no restrictions on how many units of independently arranged coursework may be applied to the required 27 units of Honors coursework. You may participate in any of the following courses to fulfill program requirements:

HON 408: Fieldwork Experience	1-12 units	HON 466: Legislative Internship	1-12 units
HON 475: Directed Readings	1-3 units	HON 485: Undergraduate Research	1-6 units
HON 490: Honors Thesis	3 units	HON 497: Independent Study	1-6 units

Enrollment in independently arranged coursework requires submission of a formal course of study proposal. Proposals require an NAU faculty supervisor and the approval of the Honors College Dean or designee prior to enrollment. Speak with an Honors advisor or visit the Honors website at nau.edu/honors to obtain information and required materials.

To aid in expanding the Honors course offerings to classes that may more appropriately fit students’ academic and/or personal interests, the Honors College and participating NAU departments offer Honors courses “by contract.” Courses offered by contract must be upper-division (300 or higher) and require a unique agreement between the student (or group of students) and the instructor of record prior to the start of classes. The idea behind contract Honors courses is not simply to add MORE work, but rather to add something to a class that would be both challenging and, more importantly, meaningful to you educationally, personally, professionally, etc. Please consult the Honors College staff or webpage at nau.edu/honors for details and necessary paperwork. Students are limited in 9 units of Honors Contract coursework.
