Policy News You Can Use

NAU's University Policy Program

Key Northern Arizona University policy program goals include providing transparency and meaningful opportunities for campus engagement in all ongoing policy development work. The informational tools described below are intended to support these important objectives.

Use these Tools to Stay Informed

Policy Development Queue

Policies nominated for consideration but not yet under active development are listed on the University Policy Library's Policy Development Queue page. The purpose of this listing is to provide ample notice to the NAU community regarding upcoming policy work.

Policies Under Review

Policies being actively developed are listed on the Policies Under Review page. Follow a policy's link to access more information, identify a point of contact, or download the latest draft. This page notifies the NAU community of all policy work underway at any given time.

New University Policies

All new University Policies are listed on the New University Policies page. This handy resource informs the NAU community of recently adopted policies and provides a convenient snapshot of the breadth and diversity of the policy work that is occurring.
