

APPLY NOW

Institute for Human Development / Arizona University Center on Disability (IHD/AzUCD) is currently accepting applications for the

IHD Diversity Fellowship in Disability Leadership

This IHD Diversity Fellowship offers graduate level students from culturally and linguistically diverse groups the opportunity to acquire leadership skills in the area of disability studies, practice, and administration. The fellowship is part of an effort to ensure that the field of disabilities includes underrepresented professionals from cultural and linguistically diverse groups in leadership roles. The fellowship provides an annual stipend to one student for the first year with possible additional funding available for a second year.

Students from programs typically associated with disability (Education, Physical Therapy, Speech/Language Pathology, etc.) are encouraged to apply as are students from programs not typically associated with disability but who have an interest in extending their skill set to include a disability perspective (Criminology, Educational Technology, and Business Administration, to name a few). Native American students are especially encouraged to apply.

Eligibility

- Must be a first year, full-time, campus-based (Flagstaff), graduate level student in good standing
- Must be from an underrepresented group
- Requires one-year commitment with the possibility of a second year
- Requires a brief application and 2 references from applicant's academic department

For information: Diversity Fellowship in Disability Leadership

<http://tinyurl.com/y2ba6dqd>

Please send applications to:

Katherine Mahosky, Ed.D., CCC-SLP

katherine.mahosky@nau.edu | Phone Number: 928-523-3614

APPLICATIONS ARE DUE 4/20/19

Celebrating over 50 years of promoting full inclusion by advancing attitudes that value persons with disabilities and enhancing access to all aspects of the human experience.

IHD Diversity Fellowship in Disability Leadership Application

This IHD Diversity Fellowship offers graduate level students from underrepresented groups the opportunity to acquire leadership skills in the area of disability studies, practice, and administration. The fellowship is part of an effort to ensure that the field of disabilities includes underrepresented professionals from cultural and linguistically diverse groups in leadership roles. The fellowship provides a $15,000 stipend to one student for the first year with possible additional funding available for a second year.

Instructions:

Students interested in applying for this fellowship opportunity must complete this application. Additionally, students must submit 2 letters of recommendation from their respective academic department. Save this PDF application and send to Katherine.Mahosky@nau.edu .

Date of Application:

Name:

Address:

Permanent Home Address:

Phone:

Work Phone:

E-mail address:

1. Please tell us why you are interested in pursuing this leadership opportunity and how it fits in with your current graduate school activities

2. How will this leadership training benefit your career goals?